

REMARKS/ARGUMENTS

Applicant respectfully requests reconsideration and allowance of the subject application.

Claims 1-47 were originally submitted.

Claims 10, 13, and 18 are canceled without prejudice.

Claims 48, 49 and 50 were previously added.

Claims 1-9, 11, 12, 14-17, and 19-50 remain in this application.

1 35 U.S.C. §112

2 Claims 13 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as 3 being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject
4 matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claims 13 and 18 are canceled
5 without prejudice.

6
7 35 U.S.C. §103(a)

8 Claims 12, 15, 16, 17, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 25, 27, 29, 30, 31, 33, 41,43, 45
9 and 50, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being unpatentable over Ahead
10 Software's Nero program (Nero) in view of U.S. Patent 5,113,517 to Beard et al
11 (Beard), in further view of U.S. Patent 5,866,699 to Belfiore et al (Belfiore).
12 Applicant respectfully traverses the rejection of the claims 12, 15, 16, 17, 19, 20, 13 21, 22, 23, 25, 27, 29, 30, 31, 33, 41,43, 45 and 50.

14 Belfiore teaches transferring data to common destinations using a common
15 destination list is provided. A user uses a software facility to transfer source
16 objects using a list of common transfer destinations. By selecting a source object 17 and issuing a transfer command, the user causes the facility to display in 18 conjunction with the source object a list of common transfer destinations
19 ("common destination list"). When the user selects a destination from the common 20 destination list, the facility initiates a transfer of the source object to the selected
21 destination. Belfiore, Abstract.

22 Independent claim 12, for example, "[a] method comprising:

23 managing a plurality of computer resources by an operating system;

1 dynamically accepting designations from a computer user of the 2 plurality of computer resources to be written to a removable storage
3 medium; and

4 presenting, in response to a user clicking on an icon representative of 5 the removable storage medium, a menu where the user is able to select a 6 staging area not currently visible to the user.

7 The Action admits that “Nero and Beard do not teach a graphical user 8 interface which in response to the user clicking on an icon, presents a menu where 9 the user is able to select a staging area not currently visible to the user.” The 10 Action relies on Belfiore as teaching this element, citing Fig. 2C, element 220 of 11 Belfiore.

12 Belfiore teaches that a source object 200 is a bitmap object, containing a 13 picture of a honeycomb cell. The user uses a mouse to select the source object
14 200. In response to the user’s selection of the source object 200, the facility 15 displays in conjunction with the source object 200 a context menu 210. The 16 context menu 210 is comprised of a list of commands that the user may apply to 17 the source object. The user applies a command from the context menu 210 by 18 selecting the command with a mouse. Fig. 2C teaches that the selection of the 19 “send to”, or transfer, command 211 from the context menu 210. In response, the 20 facility displays the common destination list 220. The common destination list 220
21 contains a list of frequently used destinations. These include container 22 destinations, such as “31/2 Floppy (A)”, “51/4 Floppy (B)”, and “Shortcut To Send 23 To” Folder. The common destination list 220 also includes non-container, 24 executable destinations such as “Dialer”, “Microsoft Word”, and “Shortcut to HP 25 Laser Jet”. At this point, the user may select any of the destinations displayed in

1 the common destinations list in order to transfer the source object 200 to that
2 destination. Belfiore, col. 3 line 48 to col. 4 line 4.

3 There is no teaching or suggestion in Belfiore that the “destinations” in the 4 common destination list 220 are “staging area(s)”, as recited by claim 12. Belfiore
5 teaches that the common destination list is provided to the user so that the user can 6 directly write or transfer a source object to destination. In other words, there is no
7 teaching or suggestion that the “destination” taught by Belfiore is a staging area.

8 For example, that Application describes that in response to browsing to a 9 staged-write resource area, the browser defines two visual sub-areas within content
10 area. These visual sub-areas are referred to herein as stored resource display area
11 and staging area or staged resource display area. The stored resource display area 12 contains icons representing files or other resources that have already been written 13 to the current staged-write resource area (in this case, “D:\My Media”). The 14 staging area, on the other hand, contains icons representing resources that the user
15 has designated for writing to the writable storage medium, but that have not yet
16 been written. Application, page 10 lines 9-16.

17 Accordingly, Applicant respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of 18 claim 12 be withdrawn.

19 Dependent claims 15 and 16 are allowable based at the least on their 20 dependency on claim 12. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of 21 claims 15 and 16 be withdrawn.

22 Independent claim 17 recites “in response to the user clicking on an icon,
23 presenting a menu where the user is able to select a staging area not currently
24 visible to the user”.

1 The Action presents the same arguments in rejecting claim 17, as those used
2 in rejecting claim 12, as to Belfiore. Applicant presents the arguments in support
3 of claim 12, in support of claim 17. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
4 rejection of claim 17 be withdrawn.

5 Dependent claims 19, 20, 21, 22, 23 and 25 are allowable based at the least 6 on their dependency on claim 17. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
7 rejection of claims 19, 20, 21, 22, 23 and 25 be withdrawn.

8 Independent claim 27 recites “in response to the user clicking on an icon,
9 presenting a menu where the user is able to select a staging area not currently
10 visible to the user”.

11 The Action presents the same arguments in rejecting claim 27, as those used
12 in rejecting claim 12, as to Belfiore. Applicant presents the arguments in support
13 of claim 12, in support of claim 27. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
14 rejection of claim 27 be withdrawn.

15 Dependent claims 29, 30, 31 and 33 are allowable based at the least on 16 their dependency on claim 17. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
17 rejection of claims 29, 30, 31 and 33 be withdrawn.

18 Independent claim 41 recites “in response to the user clicking on an icon,
19 presenting a menu where the user is able to select a staging area not currently
20 visible to the user”.

21 The Action presents the same arguments in rejecting claim 41, as those used
22 in rejecting claim 12, as to Belfiore. Applicant presents the arguments in support
23 of claim 12, in support of claim 41. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
24 rejection of claim 41 be withdrawn.
25

1 Dependent claims 43, 45 and 50 are allowable based at the least on their
2 dependency on claim 41. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of 3 claims 43, 45 and 50 be withdrawn.

4
5 Claims 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as
6 being unpatentable over Nero in view of Belfiore. Applicant respectfully traverses
7 the rejection of the claims 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8.

8 Independent claim 1 recites “in response to the user clicking on an icon,
9 presenting a menu where the user is able to select a staging area not currently
10 visible to the user”.

11 The Action presents the same arguments in rejecting claim 1, as those used
12 in rejecting claim 12, as to Belfiore. Applicant presents the arguments in support
13 of claim 12, in support of claim 1. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
14 rejection of claim 1 be withdrawn.

15 Dependent claims 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 are allowable based at the least on 16 their dependency on claim 1. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103 rejection 17 of claims 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 be withdrawn.

18
19 Claims 35, 36, 37, 38, 40, and 49, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as 20 being unpatentable over Nero in view of U.S. Patent 5,946,277 to Kuroda et al 21 (Kuroda), in further view of Belfiore. Applicant respectfully traverses the 22 rejection of the claims 35, 36, 37, 38, 40, and 49.

23 Independent claim 35 recites “in response to the user clicking on an icon,
24 presenting a menu where the user is able to select a staging area not currently
25 visible to the user”.

1 The Action presents the same arguments in rejecting claim 35, as those used
2 in rejecting claim 12, as to Belfiore. Applicant presents the arguments in support
3 of claim 12, in support of claim 35. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
4 rejection of claim 35 be withdrawn.

5 Dependent claims 36, 37, 38, 40, and 49 are allowable based at the least on
6 their dependency on claim 35. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
7 rejection of claims 36, 37, 38, 40, and 49 be withdrawn.

8
9 Claims 28, 42, and 48, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being
10 unpatentable over Nero in view of Beard, in view of Belfiore, in further view of 11 Kuroda. Applicant respectfully traverses the rejection of the claims 28, 42, and 48.

12 Dependent claim 28 depends upon base claim 27, and therefore includes 13 the element “in response to the user clicking on an icon, presenting a menu where 14 the user is able to select a staging area not currently visible to the user” as recited
15 by claim 27. As discussed above, Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element.
16 Accordingly, for at least these reasons, claim 28 is allowable. Applicant
17 respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of claim 28 be withdrawn.

18 Dependent claim 42 depends upon base claim 41, and therefore includes 19 the element “in response to the user clicking on an icon, presenting a menu where
20 the user is able to select a staging area not currently visible to the user” as recited
21 by claim 41. As discussed above, Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element.
22 Accordingly, for at least these reasons, claim 42 is allowable. Applicant
23 respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of claim 42 be withdrawn.

24 Dependent claim 48 depends upon base claim 1, and therefore includes the 25 element “in response to the user clicking on an icon, presenting a menu where the

1 user is able to select a staging area not currently visible to the user” as recited by
2 claim 41. As discussed above, Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element.
3 Accordingly, for at least these reasons, claim 48 is allowable. Applicant
4 respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of claim 48 be withdrawn.

5
6 Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being unpatentable over
7 Nero and Belfiore, in view of U.S. Patent 6,499,095 to Sexton et al (Sexton).
8 Applicant respectfully traverses the rejection of the claim 9.

9 Dependent claim 9 depends upon base claim 1, and therefore includes the 10 element “in response to the user clicking on an icon, presenting a menu where the 11 user is able to select a staging area not currently visible to the user” as recited by 12 claim 9. As discussed above, Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element.
13 Accordingly, for at least these reasons, claim 9 is allowable. Applicant
14 respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of claim 9 be withdrawn.

15
16 Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being unpatentable over
17 Nero and Belfiore, in view of U.S. Patent 6,640,269 to Stewart et al (Stewart).
18 Applicant respectfully traverses the rejection of the claim 11.

19 Dependent claim 11 depends upon base claim 1, and therefore includes the 20 element “in response to the user clicking on an icon, presenting a menu where the 21 user is able to select a staging area not currently visible to the user” as recited by 22 claim 11. As discussed above, Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element.
23 Accordingly, for at least these reasons, claim 11 is allowable. Applicant
24 respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of claim 11 be withdrawn.
25

1 Claim 39 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being unpatentable over
2 Nero, in view of Kuroda, in view of Belfiore, and in further view of Stewart.
3 Applicant respectfully traverses the rejection of the claim 39.

4 Dependent claim 39 depends upon base claim 35, and therefore includes
5 the element “in response to the user clicking on an icon, presenting a menu where
6 the user is able to select a staging area not currently visible to the user” as recited
7 by claim 35. As discussed above, Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element.
8 Accordingly, for at least these reasons, claim 35 is allowable. Applicant
9 respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of claim 35 be withdrawn.

10
11 Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being unpatentable over 12 Nero, in view of Beard, in view of Belfiore, in view of U.S. Patent 6,678,764 to 13 Paravulescu et al (Paravulescu). Applicant respectfully traverses the rejection of 14 the claim 14.

15 Dependent claim 14 depends upon base claim 12, and therefore includes 16 the element “presenting, in response to a user clicking on an icon representative of 17 the removable storage medium, a menu where the user is able to select a staging
18 area not currently visible to the user” as recited by claim 12. As discussed above,
19 Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element. Accordingly, for at least these 20 reasons, claim 14 is allowable. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
21 rejection of claim 14 be withdrawn.

22
23 Claims 24 and 32, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being
24 unpatentable over Nero in view of Beard, in view of Belfiore, in further view of 25 Sexton. Applicant respectfully traverses the rejection of the claims 24 and 32.

1 Dependent claim 24 depends upon base claim 17, and therefore includes
2 the element “presenting, in response to a user clicking on an icon representative of
3 the removable storage medium, a menu where the user is able to select a staging
4 area not currently visible to the user” as recited by claim 17. As discussed above,
5 Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element. Accordingly, for at least these
6 reasons, claim 24 is allowable. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
7 rejection of claim 24 be withdrawn.

8 Dependent claim 32 depends upon base claim 27, and therefore includes
9 the element “in response to the user clicking on an icon, presenting a menu where
10 the user is able to select a staging area not currently visible to the user” as recited
11 by claim 27. As discussed above, Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element.
12 Accordingly, for at least these reasons, claim 32 is allowable. Applicant
13 respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of claim 32 be withdrawn.

14
15 Claims 26, 34, and 44, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being
16 unpatentable over Nero in view of Beard, in view of Belfiore, in further view of 17 Stewart. Applicant respectfully traverses the rejection of the claims 26, 34, and 18 44.

19 Dependent claim 26 depends upon base claim 17, and therefore includes 20 the element “presenting, in response to a user clicking on an icon representative of 21 the removable storage medium, a menu where the user is able to select a staging
22 area not currently visible to the user” as recited by claim 17. As discussed above,
23 Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element. Accordingly, for at least these
24 reasons, claim 26 is allowable. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
25 rejection of claim 26 be withdrawn.

1 Dependent claim 34 depends upon base claim 27, and therefore includes
2 the element “in response to the user clicking on an icon, presenting a menu where
3 the user is able to select a staging area not currently visible to the user” as recited
4 by claim 27. As discussed above, Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element.
5 Accordingly, for at least these reasons, claim 34 is allowable. Applicant
6 respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of claim 34 be withdrawn.

7 Dependent claim 44 depends upon base claim 41, and therefore includes
8 the element “in response to the user clicking on an icon, presenting a menu where
9 the user is able to select a staging area not currently visible to the user” as recited
10 by claim 41. As discussed above, Belfiore fails to teach or suggest this element.
11 Accordingly, for at least these reasons, claim 44 is allowable. Applicant
12 respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of claim 44 be withdrawn.

13
14 Claims 46 and 47, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being
15 unpatentable over Nero in view Sexton, in further view of Stewart, in further view 16 of Kuroda, and in further view of Belfiore. Applicant respectfully traverses the 17 rejection of the claims 46 and 47.

18 Independent claim 46 recites “in response to the user clicking on an icon,
19 presenting a menu where the user is able to select a staging area not currently
20 visible to the user”.

21 The Action presents the same arguments in rejecting claim 46, as those used
22 in rejecting claim 12, as to Belfiore. Applicant presents the arguments in support
23 of claim 12, in support of claim 46. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103
24 rejection of claim 46 be withdrawn.
25

1 Dependent claim 47 is allowable based at the least on their dependency on 2 claim 46. Applicant respectfully requests that the §103 rejection of claim 47 be 3 withdrawn.
